The provision for these topics often requires an earlier start than the term which has been designated for delivery. In year 1 those topics are: Seasonal changes, plants & animals. This topic requires planning for making observations throughout the school year. A suggested learning journey re making observations over time is: Set up observations early on during the school year by showing the children a couple of photos or a You Tube video, illustrating the effects of the passing of time in relation to the focus phenomena e.g. two pictures of the school grounds, one taken during late autumn and the other in late spring. Use these as the basis for a session raising scientific questions to be investigated. With the children's involvement, identify 2 or 3 questions to focus upon to explore further. Designate a display board on which to capture observations over a period of time e.g. throughout the school year. Collect observations, children's drawings and observation notes (e.g. of birds and animals seen) and photographs throughout the year and display these on the display board in sequence. Involve the children in collecting the data/observations relating to the phenomena to investigate, contrast and compare, noting the significant changes. Pull together observations/learning in order to determine what has been found in relation to the children's initial questions. Mini plenaries could be held towards the end of each term noting any significant changes throughout the previous half term and prompting children to wonder about/predict what will happen next. Seasonal changes (revisited, on-going) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Can they observe changes across the four seasons? • Can they name the four seasons in order? • Can they observe and describe weather associated with the seasons? • Can they observe and describe how day length varies? Challenging <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Can they observe features in the environment and explain that these are related to a specific season? • Can they observe and talk about changes in the weather? • Can they talk about weather variation in different parts of the world? Plants NB Plant seeds and bulbs early on in this term in order for growth to be observed in term 5.
