Sharing Good Practice

“Hallsville Primary School is hosting a series of ‘sharing good practice’ between school leader events taking place at Hallsville Primary School later on this term to which school leaders are invited.

The intentions for the afternoons will be to:

- enable leaders to build a clear picture of standards throughout their school and in relation to other local schools
- enable leaders to identify what is currently working well re: provision as well as what could be improved
- enable leaders to identify and share evidence of good practice
- build positive & supportive relationships between middle leaders & enhance capacity re: leadership of provision
- build on the development of a portfolio of outcomes exemplifying ‘What makes good’ in local schools

School leaders attending will be able to compare & contrast outcomes (focused upon years 2, 4 & 6) in their schools with leaders from other schools. As part of the exercise we will be collecting and scanning examples of ‘What makes good’ and those in attendance will be provided with access to digital copies of these materials to support their development work back in school

Subject leads attending will need to bring the books/outcomes for three children representing lower, middle and higher ability, in their subject, for children in years 2, 4 & 6 in their school to share, as well as any other outcomes/evidence that they wish to bring with them.
